

Leaders in Online Appraisals

Press Release – 3rd February 2008

Save the Children purchase company lifetime licence for Involve 360.

The worlds leading international charity for the support of children has agreed a company lifetime licence for Involve Groups state of the art 360 feedback system, Involve 360.

Involve's web-based system will provide Save the Children with a simple, easy to use solution for 360 feedback assessments that will drive personal development and underpin the organisations prized international management and leadership development programmes.

With the ability to add additional functionality such as personal development plans and objective setting modules as required, the Involve 360 system will provide relevant and continued support to the charities development and performance needs.

Nathan Hutchings, Business Development Manager of Involve Group, adds:

“Working with Save the Children to support their ongoing requirements in the areas of leadership development and performance management is a real honour. Our online system will provide an immediate return on investment through reduced administration and immediate access to real-time reports.

With over three thousand employees worldwide, Save the Children delivers immediate and lasting improvements to children's lives worldwide.

Involve Group has been providing online Appraisal systems and Knowledge Sharing Services since 2005, offering clients practical advice and state of the art simple to use solutions.
